The Windows of the Marquis Sacchetti's Palace Shattered.

Another Shell Discovered Just in Time to Avert an Explosion.

Vatican Officers the Apparent Targets of the Unknown Dynamiters.

ROME. March 21.—Two more bomb explosions occurred to this city last night, being the second and third in less than a week, the first having occurred in Friday last. The Annual Mattia Pucci, the chief of the assassins of William Pitt, the English States Minister.

The first of last night's outrages was perpetrated at the Margherita Palace and resulted only in many broken windows in the palace and neighboring buildings.

Later an explosion occurred at the residence of the Marquis Sacchetti, Grand Marshal of the Papal Court, and has caused a feeling of great anxiety in Vatican circles, in view of the fact that the efforts of the dynamiters seem in a measure to be directed against the attachés of the Papal court.

The bomb had been placed within the entrance of the residence, and the noise of the explosion was heard for a great distance.

Fortunately the only material damage done was the smashing of many windows of the palace, though the walls in some places bear traces of the explosion.

This affair caused the police to be more than usually vigilant, and during the night another bomb was found on the staircase of a house in the Quattro Fontane.

A ignited fuse was attached to this bomb, and it was discovered just in time to prevent an explosion that in all probability would have resulted disastrously to the building and its occupants.

VOTING FOR SENATOR.

Special Election Today to Choose P. E. Maguire's Successor.

Another election was held yesterday afternoon to choose a successor to Senator Edward P. Maguire, who died on the 1st of March, leaving his seat vacant. The Louisianian candidate for Senator in the Ninth district, waiting, did not work. Mr. Cunningham was around at the polls today and showed that he was a very live candidate.

The poll for the special election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Edward P. Maguire, opened at 6 o'clock this morning and will close at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

All voters who registered at the last general election and on the two registration days last week, and who live within the boundaries of the district, Fourteenth street, Third avenue, Eighty-sixth street and the East River, were voting well and making at least a good showing for his trouble.

The work of just getting out the vote of the opposing candidates, the members of the Democratic majority, was the task of the particular trial which attracts them. They spend their lives, as it seems, in this way, sitting in one or another of the thirty courts that are constantly in session in the court-houses in City Hall Park.

Mr. Blodgett was anxious to implement his twice deferred election to Congress and planned to do so again this year to run immediately after the five years sentence already imposed on him.

He voted for the candidate proposed to be continued to pay the costs and damages demanded by the civil parties to the proceedings.

The Supply of Money Abundant Affairs in Wall Street.

WALL STREET, Tuesday, March 21.—The markets were extremely quiet to-day. The professionals have a monopoly of the business in stocks and even those seem disposed to go along at the moment.

This is not to be wondered at, considering the elements of uncertainty in only 60,000 shares of stocks changed hands to-morn.

Prices were lower at the start, but a firm feeling soon set in and an advance of 16 to 17 1/2 per cent was made. The industrials scored the greatest rise.

Among the speculators, Manhattan jumped from 162 to 164 1/2, and the light offerings at the advance attracted considerable attention.

Business prevailed throughout the afternoon, but the tone was firmer and there was some improvement all along the line.

The greatest advances were made in the industrials, and of these American Telephone led the way.

Stocks were strengthened by the announcement that the Trust had advanced the price of refined sugar.

Business was also improved by the dissolution of an old pool in the stock.

Markets were easy enough this morning, but a little later on, oil and gas, and the like, were up.
